

CODE OF CONDUCT

NEXT Hackathon 2019 and its organizers are committed to providing a welcoming and harassment-free environment for participants of all races, gender identities, sexual orientations, physical abilities, physical appearances, and beliefs.

We've written this code of conduct because we believe a clear code of conduct is a necessary part of building a respectful community space.

All NEXT Hackathon 2019 participants are abide by following code of conduct:

1. Please treat all other participants with utmost respect, act kindly, and do not insult or put down other attendees.
2. Any harassment and racist, sexist, or exclusionary jokes are not appropriate for this event. If at any point you see a fellow being harassed, please talk to the nearest volunteers.
3. Please treat our sponsors, organizers, and judges with the utmost respect. Without them, nothing would be possible. If they come over to talk to you, we ask that you give them a bit of your time. They're here for you! Show them you appreciate it.
4. Respect the venue. Please be considerate of security. Note that those not participating in Hackathon are not allowed in the space.
5. If you have any problem then report to the volunteers in the room.
6. Participants are subjected to penalty if any damages are made by them.
7. Participants are supposed to register themselves before leaving the room during the event.